IRI: Personnel Reviews

IRI Analytix has the safety and well-being of all employees in mind. IRI Analytix conducts reviews at the senior management level, generally the Chairman/CEO, as a threat assessment, given the nature of the firm, its industry, and its locations. Recommended security guidelines and procedures also apply to senior management as well as to staff employees as appropriate. Concerns may involve:

executive protection, travel security, home security, and counter-intelligence.

IRI: Physical Reviews

IRI Analytix specialists conduct physical reviews including: office buildings, production facilities, distribution centers, and other locations affecting the client organization's well-being, including corporate aircraft locations, corporate conference locations, and annual meeting venues. Typical concerns may involve:

access procedures, mail room procedures, building security engineering, perimeter security, surveillance, personnel screening procedures, document & communications security, and counter-espionage measures.

IRI: Data Reviews

Data audits are conducted by specialized IRI Analytix experts with particular IT competency, typically at the client's corporate data processing center(s), in conjunction with client IT staff. Comprehensive reports detailing findings and recommendations are prepared for management, typically followed by debriefing sessions. Based upon issues raised, assignments often proceed to the planning and implementation phase. Typical concerns focus on:

network integrity, intrusion detection & prevention, business interruption, data theft, and site vulnerability.

IRI: Crisis Management and Response

Crisis Management and Response includes preventive assessments and planning as well as post-event assistance and follow-on planning. Crisis Management typically applies to extortion, product tampering & contamination, and kidnap for ransom (K&R).

IRI Analytix specialists assist with planning, training, and table-top exercises to prepare management to respond quickly to both foreseen and unforeseen events. IRI Analytix experts also may work in conjunction with public relations specialists who may be assisting with media response.

Many food, beverage, pharmaceutical, and other consumer products companies may experience product faults—whether intentional, negligent, accidental, or as the result of a hoax—thereby giving rise to possible recalls and follow-on investigations.
